

Laney Ey, Director of Research and Analytics

Laney Ey joined Coxe Curry & Associates in March 2017. She brings 11 years of research and analytical experience as well as volunteer fundraising involvement in the Atlanta community. As the Director of Research and Analytics, Laney manages and oversees all firm research projects related to prospects, client engagements, and a full range of information services.

Prior to joining Coxe Curry, Laney was employed as a management analyst and program evaluator for the State of Georgia. In this role, she worked in program areas such as foster care and adoption, healthcare, and higher education. Laney served as a project leader, interacting with all levels of government leadership, as well as a member of various agency committees. She has experience in data reliability testing and analytics, internal control reviews, resource assessment, grant and contract compliance, and public sector budgeting.

Additionally, Laney serves as the chair of a fundraising committee for a local nonprofit, benefitting children in Africa.

Laney moved to Atlanta in 2006 after graduating cum laude from Furman University. She earned her master's in public policy from the Georgia Institute of Technology with a concentration in Urban and Economic Development.
