

MacKensie Brandt, Director

MacKensie Brandt is a director with Coxe Curry & Associates. She brings a wealth of experience in developing strategic guidance for capital campaigns, annual fundraising efforts, development assessments, and feasibility studies for clients across a wide range of sectors, with a strong background in public-private partnerships. Recent engagements include the Atlanta BeltLine Partnership, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, Atlanta Ronald McDonald House Charities, The Nature Conservancy, Oglethorpe University, The Study Hall, Trinity School, and the YMCA of Metro Atlanta. MacKensie also provides graphic design services for a variety of internal and external projects.

MacKensie joined Coxe Curry in 2014 after beginning her nonprofit career at the Frazer Center, where she gained first-hand experience planning and executing fundraising events, managing volunteers and annual fundraising efforts, maintaining a donor database, and creating communications and marketing materials. She is a member of the LEAD Atlanta Class of 2020, on the Board of the Association of Fundraising Professionals – Greater Atlanta Chapter, is chairing National Philanthropy Day 2022, and she also serves as president of the Whitefield Academy Alumni Board.

A native Atlantan, MacKensie is a graduate of the University of Georgia's Honors College with degrees in psychology and international affairs. She currently resides in Kirkwood with her husband Andrew and their two young children.
